

PLAYING ON THE BEACH

GWH: Let's build sandcastles, kids.

LB: OK!

LG: Oh, that'll be fun.

LB: My castle's bigger than your castle, Mary.

LG: But my castle's taller!

GWH: Well, my castle's the prettiest. See? It's decorated with shells.

LB: Look out! Here comes an enormous wave!

GWH: You can't fool me; I wasn't born yesterday. I'm not even going to turn around.

LG: Uh-oh!

GWH: Rats!

L: I can't believe you wasted your vote. Do you really think Brad Roe is better than the other candidates?

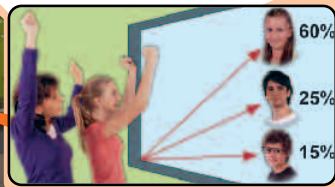

w: He's definitely better-looking than the others!

T: Hi, girls. How's it going?

w: Great. We're both rooting for you, Tammy.

T: Thanks. I appreciate your support.

L: Wendy!

w: Before you lecture me, I didn't say I voted for her.

... to be continued in Lesson 8.

OCCUPIED

GMP: What were you doing when I called you before?

GH: I was watching TV.

GMP: So you blew me off because of some stupid sitcom?

GH: I wasn't watching a sitcom; it was a cooking show.

GMP: Yummy! Give me one when I see you tomorrow, and I'll forgive you.

GH: I was learning how to make brownies.

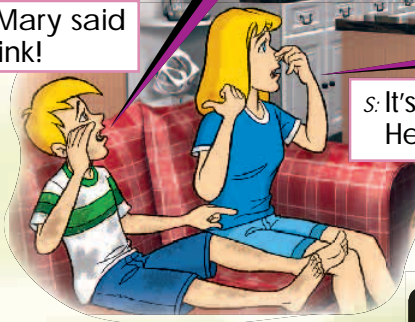

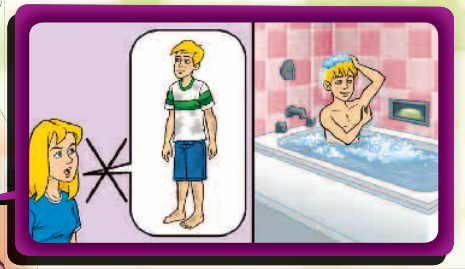

COMPLAINING

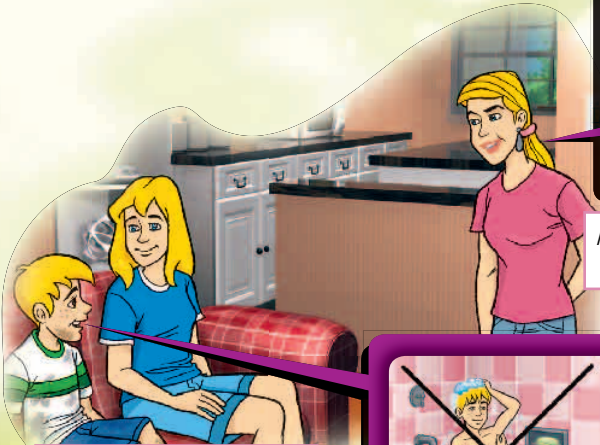

B: Mommy! Mary said my feet stink!

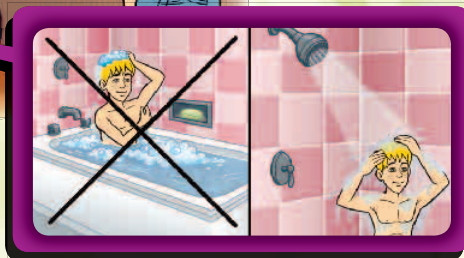

s: It's true, Mom. He's so dirty.

M: Well, Mary won't say that anymore if you take a bath.

B: Fine. But I'll take a shower instead.
